EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The 20th century marked a significant paradigm shift in scientific thought with the advent of quantum physics. A new era of exploring, understanding and demystifying the subatomic realm was being ushered in. The laws and principles governing the subatomic world were mired in abstractions, contradictions and were radically different from the far more predictable domains of classical physics. Concepts like superposition, entanglement that initially were restricted to thought experiments were now being verified and even applied commercially.

Quantum computing is one such domain that uses these abstruse characteristics and fundamentals to revolutionise computing. It is now the next big leap that will redefine and reshape the information and technology sector. Conventional computing depends on all data being encoded to a binary code. All data was reduced to variable combinations of 1 and 0. The value of one bit could either be 1 or 0. Each bit in a byte is assigned a specific value, which is referred to as the place value. Eight bits constitute a byte. A byte's place values are used to determine the meaning of the byte as a whole, based on the individual bits. In other words, the byte values indicate what character is associated with that byte. What if the bit could simultaneously be 0 and 1? Values lingering in the grey zones of yes and no? A superposition of both possibilities.

Quantum computers use quantum bits or qubits, which process information very differently. While classical bits always represent either one or zero, a qubit can be in a superposition of one and zero simultaneously until its state is measured. In addition, the states of multiple qubits can be entangled, meaning that they are linked quantum mechanically to each other. Superposition and entanglement give quantum computers capabilities unknown to classical computing.

Quantum computers have shown that they can process certain tasks exponentially faster than classical computers. The qualified, time-tested binary system or Dwaitawad used by classical computers is being rendered obsolete by a far more abstract, mystical pleomorphism. The quantum state doesn't negate duality. It rather transcends duality to a state that defies any numerical nomenclature. It could best be termed as a nondual state that is not restricted to but includes duality. A state that has perhaps been the backbone of Indian philosophical systems. Advaita is much more than the mere affirmation of nonduality. It is a state that is all inclusive and omniscient... The new-age quantum computing might just become the cornerstone of mankind's quest for understanding reality albeit from a quantum perspective. A reality that's simultaneously virtual and real. — Deepak Ranade in The Times of India

Keys, nail cutters, knife removed from stomach

Motihari (Bihar): Doctors in India were taken aback after removing keys, nail clippers and even a knife from the stomach of a young man, reported to be in his early twenties.

The gut-wrenching issue came to light after the unnamed patient's mother noticed that she was missing the keys to her wardrobe closet. When she asked her son where they were, the keyholder said he had swallowed him — a statement she initially took as a joke.

However, unbeknownst to her at the time, the man had indeed ingested the door opener. She realised he wasn't lying after transporting him to the hospital in Motihari, Bihar, where an ultrasound revealed that he'd ingested said keys along with other inedible objects. A surgical procedure was performed and the objects were removed.

Family scams hotels by placing cockroaches

Guadalajara: A Mexican family has been outed as scammers after being caught on video placing cockroaches on their plates at a restaurant just so they can then complain and leave without paying the bill.

The restaurant in Guadalajara, Mexico, recently took to social media to shame a family of scammers who had threatened to make a scene because of a cockroach they had allegedly found in the dishes they ordered unless the restaurant agreed to not charge them for their meal. Although confused by the incident, as the restaurant reportedly has a very strict hygiene policy, management decided to give in to the patrons' demands just to avoid an unnecessary scandal.

However, as soon as the family left, they checked the surveillance cameras and found proof that the whole thing had been premeditated. They then uploaded the clip online as a cautionary tale.

Global Navigation Satellite System Vs privacy issues

Sir,

Apropos the news item titled 'Toll collection on Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway: FASTag to be replaced by Global Navigation Satellite System soon' in Star of Mysore dated Sept. 1. This is indeed an intriguing technology. However, it's worth noting that privacy concerns are the primary reason many advanced countries have hesitated to adopt this system.

While the report provides an overview, it does not address the crucial issue of privacy. Additionally, how exactly will the satellite identify vehicles?

There are only two plausible methods for vehicle identification on the highway: cameras or GPS. Based on the headline 'Global Navigation Satellite System,' it is evident that GPS, not cameras, will be used. This is where privacy concerns become unsettling, as GPS tracking could potentially be misused.

GPS is undoubtedly more accurate than cameras, which can fail and would require installation at every entry and exit point on both sides of the highway. The maintenance costs would be recurring and cameras would need to be replaced as technology advances or as they become obsolete or irreparable.

The Government must clearly explain how this system will operate, including measures in place to ensure privacy and necessary checks and balances.

FASTag sticker and wallet could be retained, while the FASTag readers at existing toll gates could be deactivated. Each time a vehicle exits the highway, the system could simply deduct appropriate toll amount. I urge that the public be consulted and feedback from highway users be taken into consideration before implementing this system.

National Nutrition Week at CFTRI

Kowsalya, faculty, Department of Food Science and Nutrition, Avinashilingam Institute for Home Science and Higher Education for Women, Coimbatore, seen with winners of Nutrition Week contest held at CFTRI.

Mysuru, Sept. 4- Prof. S. Kowsalya, faculty, Department of Food Science and Nutrition, Avinashilingam Institute for Home Science and Higher Education for Women at Coimbatore, has stressed on the need for food scientists to focus on technology that minimises nutrient loss during processing.

She was speaking after participating in the inaugural function of National Nutrition Week-2024 with the theme 'Nutritious diets for everyone' and 'Global Bio-India Roadshow 2024' at CSIR-CFTRI in city on Monday.

Referring to a study on 111 food items taken from across India that were 'totally deficient' of 11 nutrients, she called for policy interventions and behavioural change to increase the intake of fruits and vegetables.

"Even though cost may be involved in the transformation towards consumption of fruits, at least seasonal fruits need to be consumed," she said while pointing out that over dependence on processed foods, energy drinks, artificial sweeteners and fast foods had become one of the causes for lifestyle diseases.

As a nutritionist, Prof. Kowsalya said that even now, nutritionists are dependent on food technologists for advice but added "We cannot always tell people to eat processed foods."

On the occasion, Prof. Kowsalya also brought up a 1964 Journal authored by CFTRI's Founder-Director V. Subramanyam emphasising the need for greater collaboration between food technologists and nutritionists.

CFTRI Director Dr. Sridevi Annapurna Singh, in her Presidential remarks, pointed out that diet and disease were 'inter-related' and there was a need for people to be eating the kind of food that makes them immune to diseases. She noted that in the earlier days of food processing, food scientists were looking for enhancement of shelf life as a large quantity of food produced in India was going waste due to poor shelf-life.

Emphasising that food processing now has to not only extend shelf life of food, but also retain its nutrients, she observed that food technology now not only has to cater food to a large population with convenience and less cost, but also ensure health and nutrition.

Dr. Prachi Agarwal, Senior Manager-Technical, Biotechnology Industry Research Assistance Council (BIRAC), New Delhi, who was the guest of honour, spoke about upcoming Global Bio-India Roadshow-2024.

The winners of extempore contest held as part of Nutrition Week — A.G. Pavitra, Hadia Tahir, Ashmitha Tanwar, M. Aishwarya and Rajesh and winners of essay contest — M. Prakruti, M. Deepika, Keerti, Harapriya Sahu and Twinkle Kesharwani, were distributed prizes.

MUDA Site Scam

'CM should resign at least now'

Bengaluru, Sept. 4 (KMS&DM)- Urging Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to return the 14 sites illegally allotted by MUDA (Mysuru Urban Development Authority) in the name of his wife, BJP MLC N. Ravikumar has demanded the resignation of Siddaramaiah.

Addressing a press meet at 'Jagannatha Bhavan,' the party office at Malleswaram here yesterday, Ravikumar said that the Government has suspended former MUDA Commissioner G.T. Dinesh Kumar charging that the official had violated the law, norms and directions of the Government. The Government has thus agreed that the rules have been flouted, he said alleging that the CM's wife has been allotted alternative sites in a prime locality.

Maintaining that the allotment of 14 sites to the CM's wife in a prime locality where the rate per square feet of the land is about Rs. 10,000-12,000, the BJP MLC termed the CM's remarks that he was unaware of Dinesh Kumar's suspension as an attempt to fool the people of the State.

Pointing out that the suspension order of G.T. Dinesh Kumar has highlighted the irregularities and flouting of norms in the allotment of 50:50 ratio alternative sites which was introduced in 2009, Ravikumar said BJP too had raised the same questions.

"The then Legislators S.A. Ramdas, G.T. Devegowda, Marithibbegowda and others had attended the MUDA meeting when the allotment of sites to the CM's wife was discussed, he said, barring the then MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev and the then Commissioner D.B. Natesh, all others had opposed the decision to allot sites to the CM's wife. But though an official resolution was not passed in this regard at the meeting, a fake resolution was created, as per which the CM's wife was allotted 14 sites. When such is the case, I cannot understand why the CM is waiting for the Court's ruling," he said adding that Siddaramaiah should resign immediately, if he had any self-respect or honour. Ravikumar also demanded the dismissal of Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh.

State BJP OBC Morcha President Kautilya Raghu, who also addressed the press meet, said that the BJP has been campaigning relentlessly against the massive MUDA scam.

Pointing out that a Committee of technical experts had given a report on MUDA irregularities when the BJP Government was in power, Raghu said that the Government has now suspended a former MUDA Commissioner after a long delay, which is like locking a stable when all the horses are out.

Questioning why another former MUDA Commissioner D.B. Natesh, who is equally involved in the scam and who held the post when 14 sites were allotted to the Chief Minister's wife, has not been suspended along with Dinesh Kumar, Ravikumar alleged that perhaps, Natesh has been spared of any transfer and disciplinary action as he favoured the CM's family by illegally allotting the sites.

Depositors protest fraud by fly-by-night firms

Mysuru, Sept. 4 (MTY&TRR)- Residents of Mysuru and nearby areas staged a protest against fly-by-night companies like PACL, Saiprasada, Samruddha Jeevana, Agri Gold and other investment firms that have shut down over the past decade after collecting monthly deposits from the public and committing fraud.

These companies deceived unsuspecting citizens who entrusted their hard-earned money in good faith. The aggrieved depositors have begun protesting in front of the Deputy Commissioner's (DC) offices across the State since Sept. 1. The protesters gathered at the new DC's office in Siddarthanagar, Mysuru, on Monday, demanding Government intervention to ensure the refund of their deposits. They also submitted a memorandum to the DC's Office in this regard.

"According to the Banning of Unregulated Deposits (BUDS) Act, 2019, companies are required to refund deposit money within 180 days. However, even after five years of the Act's implementation, neither the Central nor State Governments have returned the money, despite receiving applications from affected depositors," the protesters said.

"Crores of people have suffered significant losses. The officials appointed under the Act are supposed to investigate complaints of fraud, but no action has been taken so far," they complained.

The protesters further alleged that vested interests are attempting to undermine the Banning of Unregulated Deposit Schemes Act (BUDS Act). "Lakhs of people in both urban and rural areas have been cheated out of their savings by these companies. Despite submitting refund applications to the District Administration and relevant authorities, we have not received our money. We demand that Parliament and the Government uphold the sanctity of the BUDS Act, ensure the refund of deposit money to the victims and punish those responsible," they said.

Allabaksh, Venkataramu, M.S. Ramamurthy, Harish, H.M. Shivanna and many others participated in the protest.

MLA demands legal action against suspended former MUDA Commr.

Mysuru, Sept. 4 (RK&DM)- A day after the Government suspended former MUDA Commissioner G.T. Dinesh Kumar on charges of grave irregularities in the allotment of sites, KR BJP MLA T.S. Srivatsa has demanded registration of a criminal case against Dinesh Kumar and his arrest in the case.

Addressing a press meet at the MCC office here yesterday, Srivatsa maintained that the Government itself has officially admitted that the massive MUDA scam has indeed happened, with the suspension of former MUDA Commissioner Dinesh Kumar.

Observing that by suspending Dinesh Kumar, the Government on its own has provided evidence to the High Court regarding the MUDA scam, the MLA claimed that the Government has at last acted on the BJP's relentless campaign against MUDA scam, by suspending Dinesh Kumar.

Wondering why the Government has spared another former MUDA Commissioner D.B. Natesh when he is equally involved in the scam, Srivatsa demanded that criminal cases be registered against both the former MUDA Commissioners.

MLA T.S. Srivatsa

Stating that both the former MUDA Commissioners must be arrested for their gross irregularities, the MLA said that the officials used to fear if Siddaramaiah was to attend meetings. But it is unfortunate that these two former MUDA Commissioners have kept the CM under control, he said adding that the CM may have avoided the situation which he is now, if he had acted on his complaints last year regarding grave irregularities in the allotment of 50:50 ratio alternative sites.

Asserting that the 14 sites allotted to the CM's wife should stand cancelled with the suspension of G.T. Dinesh Kumar, Srivatsa demanded that the Government hand over the MUDA scam probe to the CBI and ensure that all the culprits are punished.

Siddaramaiah moots big plans for development of Chamundi Hill

Rs. 169 crore funds in Sri Chamundeshwari Temple Development Authority; No discussion on Ropeway Project

Mysuru, Sept. 4 (BLU&BS)- Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who chaired the maiden meeting of newly formed Sri Chamundeshwari Temple Development Authority yesterday, took key decisions including formation of a new Task Force to prevent crimes, plan for comprehensive development of the temple, renovation of Dasoha Bhavan and five-year Master Plan for the development of the Hill temple.

Presiding over the meeting organised at Dasoha Bhavan in Chamundi Hill, that lasted three hours, Siddaramaiah shared the details related to the discussions and deliberations of the meeting of the Authority, at the press conference later.

Restoration of five temples

Stating that several thousands of devotees visit the Chamundi Hill daily, he said some of the works are either completed or remain incomplete. It has been decided to complete those works and then take up works on comprehensive development of the temple and the hill. A total of 24 temples are located in the jurisdiction of Chamundeshwari temple and it has been decided to develop them. The five temples — Prasanna Krishnaswamy temple, Gayatri Ammanavara temple, Bhuvaneshwari temple, Varaha Swamy temple and Kote Anjaneyaswamy temple — that fall in the jurisdiction of Chamundeshwari temple will also be restored, with a suitable decision taken in this regard, he said.

PRASHAD Scheme

Under the Central Government's "Pilgrimage Rejuvenation And Spiritual, Heritage Augmentation Drive (PRASHAD) Scheme, Chamundi Hill is being developed, but still there is a requirement for additional Rs. 11 crore that would be borne by the State Government. The officers have been instructed to complete the works taken up prior to the formation of Chamundeshwari Development Authority, including the works on supplying drinking water to the hill, the CM said.

Plastic Free

The first priority is towards maintaining the cleanliness of the hill. Though the civil works of waste disposal unit has been completed, the electricity connection is not provided yet. Officers have been instructed to provide electricity connection to facilitate functioning of the unit to make the hill 'Plastic Free,' he added.

Photography prohibited

The CM also informed that, photography is prohibited within the temple and the rule on switching off the mobile phone soon after entering the temple premises, will be strictly enforced. The temple staff will be given health facilities and their children will be provided education.

The area around Devikere and Nandi Statue will also be developed towards making the Chamundi Hill more attractive. The steps leading to the hilltop from the foothill will also be developed for the benefit of devotees. The adequate electricity connection shall be provided to the hill and the street lamps will be installed at essential places, said the CM.

Other Temple Authorities

Earlier, the Deputy Commissioner-headed Committee had Zilla Panchayat Chief Executive Officer (CEO) on board. Now, the Authority has been formed on the lines of Huligemma temple, Saundatti Yellamma temple and Ghati Subramanya Swamy temple.

WORD OF THE DAY

Cronyism

Pronunciation: KROH-nee-iz-um (noun).
Meaning: Cronyism is the unfair practice by a powerful person (such as a politician) of giving jobs and other favours to friends without regard for their qualifications.
Origin: The word cronyism evolved in the 19th century as a spin-off of crony, meaning "friend" or "pal." In its younger days, cronyism simply meant "friendship," or "the ability to make friends." The word didn't turn bad until the next century, when Americans started using it to refer to the act of playing political favourites. If cronyism is new to your vocabulary, perhaps you're more familiar with the related term nepotism, meaning "favouritism based on kinship, especially in professional and political contexts."
Example: "Expertise, not cronyism, is needed to determine which strategies are most likely to lead to meaningful gains." — Time, 23 Aug. 2023.

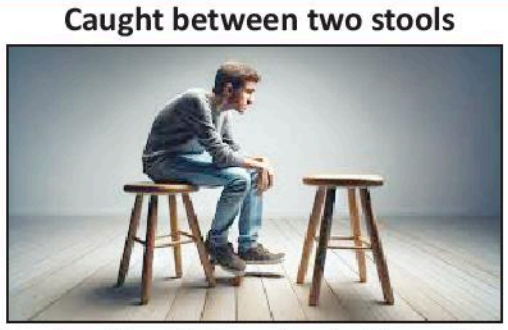
THE ODD WORD

Cacotopia

A state in which everything is as bad as it can be.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Caught between two stools



Meaning: The phrase 'Caught between two stools' means that a mission or task has not been executed, due to not being able to pick between two options.
Origin: This is a very old phrase. It was first spotted in John Gower's Confessio Amantis, 1390: "Bot it is seid - Betwen tuo Stoles lyth the fal...".
Example: "This course is too difficult for beginners, but too simple for a knowledge student. It's caught between two stools."

I want a brighter word than bright. — John Keats
